Knights of Columbus production to run between Oct. 11 and Dec. 10

A new documentary film narrated by actor Jim Caviezel offers original insights into the details, story and impact of the 16th century apparition of Our Lady of Guadalupe — one of the most recognizable religious icons in the American hemisphere.

The Knights of Columbus-produced film, Guadalupe: The Miracle and the Message, paints a comprehensive and inspiring picture of the history, facts and legacy of the image of Our Lady of Guadalupe. Being aired as part of ABC's Visions and Values Series, the documentary will have a broadcast window from Oct. 11 to Dec. 10.

The film delves into the inexplicable existence of the image that appeared on the tilma (cloak) of an indigenous convert named Juan Diego, who, over the course of four days in December 1531, received a series of visions of the Virgin Mary. The indigenous people were amazed how the image revealed important elements of the Christian faith through native symbols — an actual codex — that they could understand. Most experts and historians affirm that the image miraculously imprinted on the tilma resulted in the conversion of millions to the Catholic faith.

"The message of Our Lady of Guadalupe helped to build bridges between cultures and worlds and began the transformation of our continent into a Christian continent of hope," said Supreme Knight Carl Anderson, executive producer of the film. "The apparition helped to unite the entire continent in a way that didn't exist before. Through her intercession, then and now, those throughout this hemisphere have found a deep and shared sense of faith, hope and identity."

The image itself has long been puzzling to the scientific community, since it has been shown to exist without having been painted, has survived despite extreme age, adverse conditions and a bombing. The image also exhibits features reminiscent of photographs, such as reflections in the image's eyes, even though it appeared hundreds of years before photography.

The film also dispels popular myths, including that the image's impact does not extend past Mexico's border.

"Some see Our Lady of Guadalupe as a Mexican or as a Latin American, Hispanic phenomenon," said Supreme Knight Anderson. "However, this understanding is incomplete. Our Lady of Guadalupe is the patroness of all of America and of the Philippines as well. She is loved and embraced across cultural lines throughout this continent and beyond."

Brother Knights,

Larry Phillips here looking for some help. I left a cooking dish at our summer K of C family picnic. I was a cooking dish that held a desert in it. It had a white interior and a light brown or bashe exterior. I was told that one of the knights picked it up and took it home for safe keeping since no one knew who it belonged to.

So I am asking if you have it or know of its whereabouts could you please call me at 240-1881. Thank You for the help.

Annual Right To Life Dinner

On Saturday, October 17th the Knights of Columbus hosted a highly successful Pro-Life dinner in the St. Augustine's Fellowship Hall. This event was greatly enjoyed by the over 100 people who came to hear the guest speaker, Dr Theresa Deisher. She discussed the impact of fetal tissue use in the pharmaceutical industry and morally responsible and safer alternatives. During her presentation, Dr. Deisher took questions from the guests and made herself available afterwards for further audience input.

A delicious chicken cordon bleu dinner was served with homemade sides provided by Candy Kelly and Francis Bagarella. Father Paul, Father Jerry and Father Stratz also attended the dinner and grace was said by Father Paul.

Special thanks go to all those who helped make this event such a success:

- Cooks/kitchen – Candy Kelly, Francis Bagarella, Joe Blackburn and Marye Kandzor.
- Desserts– Debbie Gallo and Theresa Frazer
- Set up/Servers/Cleanup –Fel Catabay, Eric Timme, Ben Lorica, , Mike Gerrity, Gil Garcia, Doug Warren, Jeremy Wilkins, James Kraft, Terry and Mary Kandzor

Pennies for Heaven

The old calendar on the wall tells me its time for another PFH article. First of all I want to thank Bob and Debbie Novack back from Canada for the winter for their most generous donation; and all those others that make this job so easy.

Here is some thing to think on—If you woke up this morning with more health than illness You are more blessed than the million who will not survive this week

Have a good day count your blessings

Annual (or More Often) Potato Bagging

St Hubert Council, in Langley, arranged for bins of potatoes to be delivered to their church; and invited the John E. O'Brien & Bud Orr councils to come and bag potatoes.

We started on Saturday, Oct 24 @ 0900. Coffee and doughnuts to help get us started. After approx. 1 1/2 hours it was time for some of us to try the potato chowder (and other fixings) - sorry, no pictures! Was too busy eating!

Our council delivered approx. 100 10lb bags to Help House and had 25 10lb bags for St Augustine's Agape meal program.

Who Is This 'Robert' ? And Why Did He Make These Silly Rules?

Robert's Rules for Raising a Point of Order

By C. Alan Jennings, PRP from Robert's Rules For Dummies

5 of 8 in Series: The Essentials of Robert's Rules for Subsidiary Motions

Rules are put in place to protect members' rights, and when the rules aren't followed, those rights can get trampled. Fortunately, Robert's Rules says that any member who notices a breach of the rules has a right to call immediate attention to the fact and insist that the rules be enforced by raising a point of order.

If you notice a breach of the rules, especially if that breach impinges on your rights or the rights of other members, you rise — quickly, mind you, even if you interrupt a speaker, or you'll be too late — and say, "Point of order, Grand Knight!" or "Grand Knight, I rise to a point of order!"

When you're recognized, you state your reasons for thinking your organization's rules aren't being followed correctly. The president, hopefully, recognizes the validity of your point and goes back to following the rules.

A point of order can be raised at any time when any member notices a violation of the rules. The chair's duty is to make a decision, called a ruling, on the point of order. She may need to check the rules or the bylaws, or ask the parliamentarian for advice, but in any case, a point of order is usually ruled on in one of two ways: The point is declared either "Well-taken," or "Not well-taken," and a short explanation of the ruling is given.

Sometimes, however, the point being raised is not as clear as whether a member's motion is being handled correctly. The point of order may, for example, be that a proposed amendment is not germane to the main motion. In that case, the chair may reasonably be in doubt (or may just prefer to let the assembly decide the point in the interest of harmony). If that's the case, she responds, "The chair is in doubt on the member's point. All those who consider the amendment germane will say aye . . . Opposed, no . . . The ayes have it and the amendment is germane."

A point of order

- Can interrupt a speaker who has the floor.
- Doesn't need to be seconded.
- Isn't debatable.
- Can't be amended.
- Is decided by the chair.
- Can't be reconsidered.
